

Respect matters: 7-10 Economics and Business

In Economics and Business, students develop and use personal and social skills, leadership, initiative, conflict resolution and responsible decision-making skills. They become aware of their own roles, rights and responsibilities as participants in society. They explore economic issues and challenges, reflect on their personal choices and propose positive solutions to issues while also considering the possible effects of their proposals.

Relationship skills

Economics and Business - Years 7 and 8

The ways consumers and producers interact and respond to each other in the market - ACHEK017

Why individuals work, types of work and how people derive an income - ACHEK020